Introduction

Ana-Maria is a trial attorney and complex business dispute resolution strategist. Her practice includes construction litigation, corporate and partnership disputes, real estate litigation including real estate finance, insurance coverage litigation for policy holders, and personal injury. She counsels clients on all aspects of the litigation process, from risk evaluation to case and settlement strategy, discovery and trial. She is an experienced trial attorney, having successfully presented multiple civil cases to juries and judges. In 2009, she participated in the King County Prosecutor's Office trial fellow program, where she was a special deputy prosecutor in the economic crimes unit and conducted two trials to jury verdicts. While in law school, Ana-Maria was a Judicial Extern for the Washington State Supreme Court.
